

What's working in the niche

PATTERN

Her top last-week reels aren't growth tips at all — they're broad-appeal iPhone/Instagram 'hack' tutorials (animated Google-search story sticker, three-finger-tap undo) opened with curiosity + proof hooks ('a hack that got 30,000 saves', 'a trick I wish I knew sooner') engineered for saves and shares. The niche pitch never touches the video — it lives entirely in the caption, every single time closing with a comment-a-keyword lead magnet (PROMPTS, APP, METHOD) that spikes comments and pulls people into the DMs. One pick is even a silent 8-second b-roll whose only job is to host a long caption sales-pitch with member-win social proof. Takeaway: borrow broad reach with a universally useful hack, then monetize it in the caption via a comment-to-DM funnel — the spoken hook and the offer are deliberately kept separate.

HOOK · SPOKEN (SCREEN-RECORDING DEMO)

Here's an Instagram hack you might have missed — I had to try this viral hack that got 30,000 saves.

FORMAT

Screen-Recording Demo

BREAKDOWN

A screen-recording tutorial showing how to build an animated fake-Google-search 'new post' sticker for Instagram Stories.

▼ TRANSCRIPT

Here's an Instagram hack you might have missed. I had to try this viral hack that got 30,000 saves. So start a story, choose a photo from your camera roll, tap the three dots and draw. Tap the middle pen, then at the bottom choose a color. I'm choosing white. Long press until you get an overlay and then hit done. Tap stickers, scroll down, choose your camera roll and choose the same photo you started with. Tap it until it turns into a square, make it a bit bigger and drag it into position here. Choose stickers again and this time type google into the search bar. I'm choosing this sticker then drag it to the bottom of the photo. Now we're going to tap stickers again, type google, and choose this sticker. Make it bigger and drag it to the top then tap to add text. Choose the last font option, type new post, change the font color to black, drag it over the search bar, then tap the text and choose the animate text button. Now you have a cool story. Save this for later and follow for more.

WHY IT WORKED

A broadly useful, save-worthy IG hack opened with a proof-stacked curiosity hook ('a hack that got 30,000 saves') maximizes reach and saves; the niche monetization never appears in the video — it lives in the caption's comment-'PROMPTS' lead magnet that funnels the borrowed reach into her audience.

HOOK · ON-SCREEN TEXT

(No spoken hook — ~8s silent b-roll; the open is carried by on-screen text + caption promising daily plug-and-play viral reel ideas)

FORMAT

Text-On-Screen B-Roll

BREAKDOWN

A short, near-silent b-roll reel whose entire job is to host a long caption sales-pitch for her 'Proven Viral Content' templates, closed with a comment-'APP' funnel.

▼ TRANSCRIPT

(No spoken narration — an ~8-second b-roll clip whose message lives in on-screen text + the caption. Caption pitch: stop guessing what to post; use 'Proven Viral Content' templates already proven to perform, tweak them to your niche, hit post — '10X the views in a tenth of the time,' reels hitting 5K-500K views. Social proof: Ami 417 to 14K followers in 2 months; Jayme 1K followers from one Viral Hooks Vault hook; Chris 1.9M views and 12K followers. CTA: comment 'APP' for a month of pre-planned reel ideas.)

WHY IT WORKED

The 8-second clip is a low-effort reach vehicle; the actual selling is the caption's problem to solution to social-proof structure, and the comment-keyword CTA both spikes comments (algorithm signal) and moves buyers into the DMs.

HOOK · SPOKEN (SCREEN-RECORDING DEMO)

Secret iPhone trick I wish I knew sooner.

FORMAT

Screen-Recording Demo

BREAKDOWN

A quick iPhone tip demoing the three-finger-tap undo to restore an accidentally deleted text message.

▼ TRANSCRIPT

Secret iPhone trick I wish I knew sooner. You've got a long text message ready to go and it's all highlighted and then you accidentally hit a space or another key and it deletes your entire message. Super frustrating but you don't have to retype your message. Just tap with three fingers on the screen and look for this menu at the top. Then you're gonna hit the back arrow just here and voila your message is back. Now isn't that amazing? Share this with someone who doesn't know and follow for more.

WHY IT WORKED

A universally relatable pain (losing a typed message) plus an 'I wish I knew sooner' curiosity hook makes it highly shareable; the caption then bends that broad reach back to her niche with a 'just in case we haven't met' intro and a comment-'METHOD' funnel.
